Exclusions in calculating level of annual giving include: product donations, pass-through donations, fiscal sponsorships, employee support to federated fundraising campaigns, and grants to individuals. Public and community foundations can base support on discretionary grants only rather than total grants, and government agencies engaged in grant making can base support on annual administrative budget rather than total grants. New foundations are eligible to receive a 50% discount in the first year, provided total membership support is not less than $500.
